

501 S. Cook Street – Contributing

At this location is a one-and one-half story, frame, gabled ell Folk dwelling built in 1889. The house was originally built in a gable front plan but was an extensively remodeled ca. 1950 with the addition of the existing porch, siding, windows and door, as well as, the one-and one-half-story south wing. The house has a continuous rock-faced concrete block foundation, a gable roof of asphalt shingles, an exterior wall brick chimney and an exterior of masonite siding. The main entrance has a single-light glass and wood door above which is a wood canopy supported by knee brace brackets. The gabled bay on the main façade has a twenty-light picture window flanked by four-over-four double hung wood sash windows. Other windows in the dwelling are six-over-six double hung wood sash with aluminum-clad surrounds. On the north façade is an entrance with a ca. 1950, glass and wood door.

To the rear of the dwelling is a ca. 1950, single-story, single-bay, frame garage with an exterior of masonite siding, a front gable roof of asphalt shingles and no visible door. Noncontributing
