

132 Coolidge Avenue – Contributing

Located at 132 Coolidge Avenue is a one-story, frame, gabled ell Tudor Revival-style dwelling built ca. 1930. The house has a roof of asphalt shingles, a poured concrete foundation, an exterior wall brick chimney and an exterior of wood shingles. On the main (S) façade is a steeply-pitched gable roof projecting vestibule entry that contains an original, arched entrance. This entrance has an arched Tudor-style wood door with an original, arched eight-light storm wood door flanked by an original six-light wood casement window. The main façade exterior wall brick chimney is of tan colored wired brick with concrete inset panels. Windows are original, six-over-six rectangular double hung wood sash with wood cornice surrounds. At the eaves are gable returns. In the gable field is a fixed, fanlight attic window on the main façade. The side façade gable fields have small, six-over-six double hung wood sash attic windows.

Off the northeast corner of the dwelling is an original, one-bay, frame garage with a gable roof of asphalt shingles, an exterior of shiplap siding, and its original, twenty-four wood panel overhead track door. Contributing
