

622 S. Grove Avenue – Contributing

Located at 622 S. Grove Avenue is a two-story, frame, Queen Anne (with Dutch Colonial Revival influence) dwelling built ca. 1910. The house has a continuous stone foundation, an interior brick chimney and an exterior of weatherboard siding. The roof has a cross gambrel bay with portions of asphalt shingles and original asbestos shingles and gable returns. The gambrel bays have wood shingle exteriors. On the main (E) façade is a full-width, original, enclosed screened porch with Tuscan wood columns resting on a solid wood railing covered with weatherboard siding. The exterior entry door has a aluminum and glass storm door with a screened transom. The main entrance retains its original single-light glass and wood door. Adjacent to the entrance is a wood sash window with a multi-light diamond light upper sash. On the second story of the main façade is a triple set of original windows with upper sashes having a large central diamond pattern. Above this set of windows is a multi-light fanlight attic window with a wood surround with a keystone. On the second floor of the north elevation is a bay window with three, one-over-one sash windows double hung wood sash windows on a weatherboard-covered frame base supported by heavy wood brackets beneath which is a secondary entrance with an original, single-light glass and wood panel door. The south elevation also has a bay window similar to the north elevation.

Adjacent to the dwelling is an original, single-bay, frame garage with an exterior of vertical board, a front gable roof and an original, six-light and eighteen-wood panel overhead track door. Contributing
