

303 W. Lake Street – Contributing

At this location is a one-and-one-half story cross-gabled Tudor Revival style dwelling built ca. 1930. The house has a steeply pitched roof of asphalt shingles, a continuous stone foundation, an exterior brick chimney and an exterior of brick veneer. On the main (E) façade is a projecting gable bay with three, six-over-six double hung wood sash windows above which are three, six-light fixed windows. Adjacent to the bay is an inset of three, eight-light casement windows above which is a steep shed roof. Also on the main elevation is an original, arched Tudor-style wood door with a small four-light window with an original, arched eight-light and wood exterior storm door. The entrance is set in an arched frame with stone voussoirs with a central keystone. Other windows in the dwelling are original six-over-six double hung wood sash. On the rear elevation is a large, shed roof dormer that extends across the roofline. The dormer has a triple set of six-over-six double hung wood sash windows and an exterior of synthetic siding. The windows on the main section of the dwelling have stone sills and soldier course lintels. The brick exterior has a few randomly placed decorative diamond-shaped stones. At the rear is a recently built frame garage. Noncontributing
